TWENTY-EIGHT

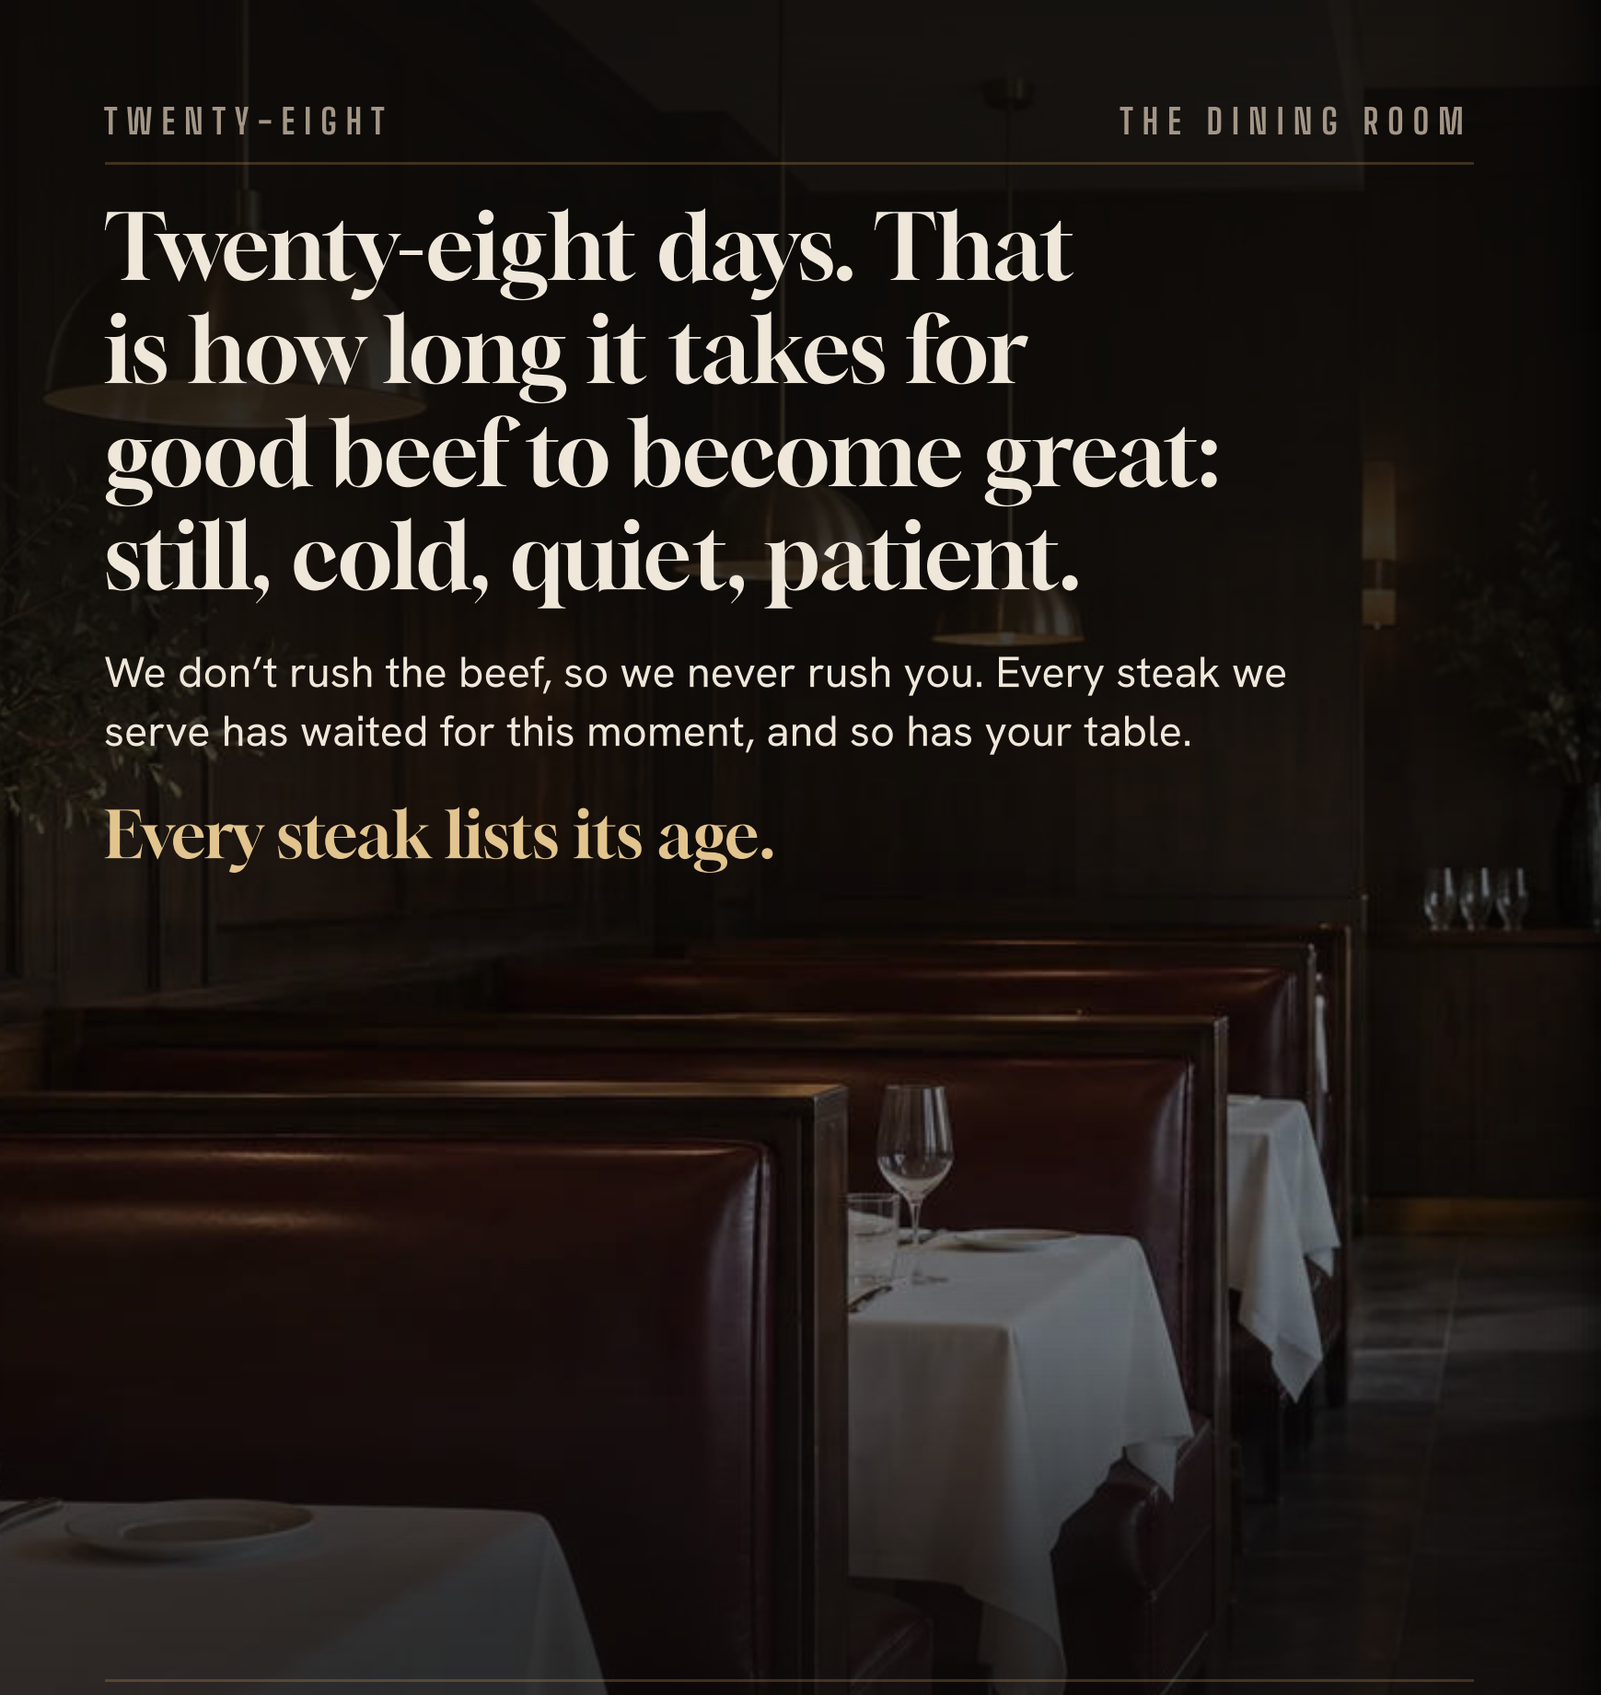

STEAKHOUSE

MENU

Twenty-eight days. That is how long it takes for good beef to become great: still, cold, quiet, patient.

We don’t rush the beef, so we never rush you. Every steak we serve has waited for this moment, and so has your table.

Every steak lists its age.

PATIENCE

Good things take time, in the ageing room and at the table.

CRAFT

Every cut is aged, trimmed and seared by hand.

HONESTY

The menu tells you how many days each steak has aged. Nothing is hidden.

GATHERING

A long wait deserves a long dinner. Guests are never hurried.

I Day One

A first taste, on the house.

Wagyu Tallow Toast

Grilled sourdough, whipped wagyu tallow, smoked salt, chive.
